OWNER KWAMAHLATI TRAINING

After graduating from the University of Natal, Ashley joined the Natal Tanning Extract Company (“N.T.E.”) in 1975 as a Learner Estate Superintendent. He was transferred to Sevenoaks in the Greytown District, where he worked as an Estate Manager - and then Fleet Controller for the company’s transport in that area.

After working for 7 years in the field, he applied for a position at the company’s training centre outside Richmond, where he worked for the next 10 years, during which time N.T.E. was taken over by Mondi. Ashley was then transferred to the “Head Office” in Pietermaritzburg, where he filled the post of “Manpower Manager”.

Following a restructuring, he worked as Forestry Training and Development Manager, until leaving Mondi in 2003. Ashley started Kwamahlati Training Services in 2006, which has been running for the past 14 years. Kwamahlati provides accredited training in a broad range of skills, to workers in the forestry and agriculture sectors, both locally and abroad.
